

A Nun of That!

A dear friend of the late Sister of Divine Providence Claire Hayes (Kingston), Colleen Frye, has written an engaging children's book, A Nun of That, about Sister Claire. The story provides a wonderful description of what it means to be Providence to others. Colleen has captured Sister Claire's personality with love and a sense of humor. The book was illustrated by Sacred Heart High School student Michelle Nutter, with guidance from art teacher Evelyn Dunbar. (Sister Claire died of leukemia in 2003, at the age of 64.)

Synopsis: When Carlos finds himself in the hospital after a car accident, he meets hospital chaplain Sister Claire and asks her what a nun does. She mischievously tells him, "nun of this, nun of that." Then she takes him on an adventure around the hospital to see exactly what she means. Sister Claire shows Carlos how she uses the different gifts God gave her by baking cookies, singing, donating coats to people in need, drawing rainbows with a little girl named Cissy, and listening to people who are scared. In the process, Carlos learns that everybody has a gift from God to use, that everybody can talk to God, and that God is always with us, even when it doesn't seem that way.
